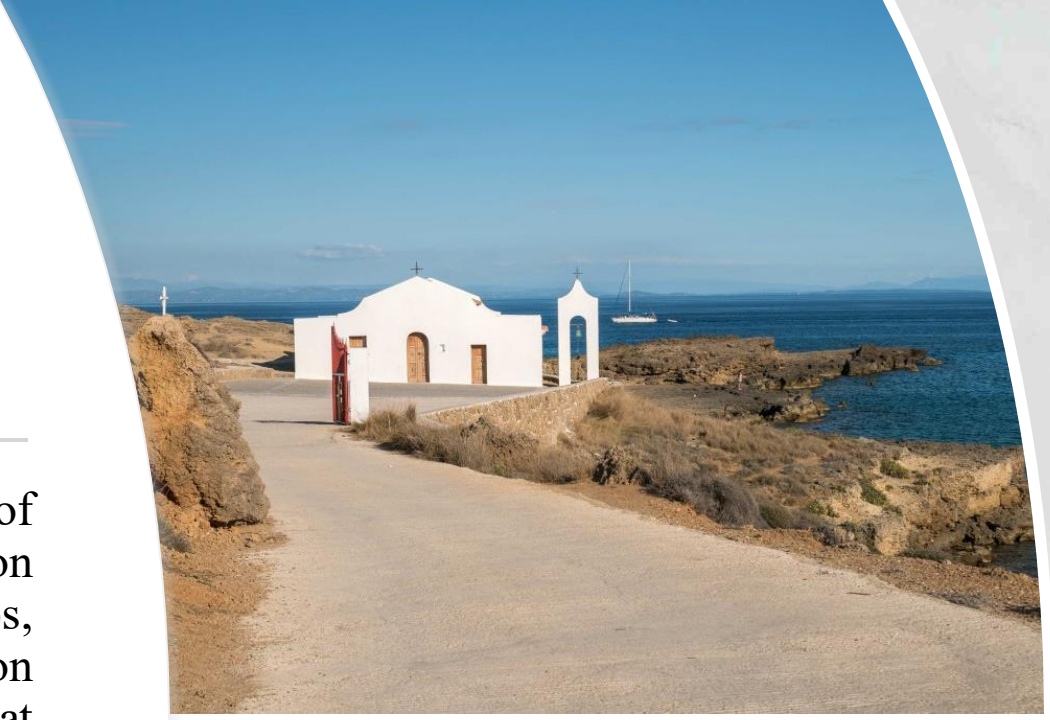
SUGGESTIONS FOR ORTHODOX WEDDINGS

I. ST. SPYRIDON CHURCH

St. Spyridon in Sgournes is one of the oldest and most characteristic churches in the Argassi area, with a history that dates back at least to the mid-16th century. Throughout the Venetian rule (15th-18th centuries), St. Spyridon maintained an important role in the religious life of the suburb, as well as in protecting the area from pirate raids. The church's structure, in its current form, follows the single-aisle style often found in post-Byzantine island chapels. Today, St. Spyridon stands very close to the holiday resorts and modern buildings, reminiscent, however, of the old face of the Zakynthian countryside. It is a wonderful choice for weddings and baptisms.

II. ST. NICOLAOS CHURCH

• The Byzantine church of Saint Nicholas is cituated on the east side of Mount Skopos, southest of the Zante Town, on the ride of the earthen road that ascends to the monastery of Skopiotissa and forms part of a lying in ruins later monastery complex dated to the 18th century. The strategic location of the site, in combination with it's geological position that affords a panoramic view to the west coast of the Peloponnese, overlooks the village of Vasillikos and, it's also very popular location for weddings.



III. ZOODOCHOS PIGI HOLY CHURCH

- Bochali is a small village of 900 residents located on the hill behind the city of Zakynthos. During Venetian occupation, as well as in subsequent years, it was the aristocratic neighborhood of the city and the island in general. It still retains elements from this period today. From Bochali, you can enjoy panoramic views of Zakynthos Town and the Ionian Sea. A few hundred meters from the town, on the hill's highest point, there is the historic Castle built around 1646.The history of the post-Byzantine Agia Paraskevi Church in Bohali, which celebrates the memory of Agia Paraskevi, patron saint of the Czechs, is lost in time. The structure was fortunately spared by the catastrophic 1953 earthquake.

IV. ST. NICOLAOS MOLOS

• The church of Agios Nikolaos Molos is located at the southern side of Solomos Square, just above the port of Zakynthos Town. This is the oldest Venetian building of the square and the only that survived the severe earthquake and fire of 1953. The church is faced with Stone and the belfry (which in the old days accommodated the Light of the Port) has been restored. The architectural style of this church follows the rules of the Royal Monoclinall. Inside the church, the pontifical vestments of Saint Dionisios are kept, as a tribute to the relation of the Saint with this church.
